

LIBRARY DATABASES FOR BUSINESS AND PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Weis Library subscribes to several information resources that are helpful to business and public administration students and faculty. They can be accessed on the library's website and include reference works, electronic books and journals, news sources, and business and government information.

REFERENCE WORKS

Britannica Academic is an online encyclopedia for general reference and academic research. It contains authoritative entries on subjects in the humanities, social sciences, and science and technology. And it provides access to related content like magazine and journal articles, e-books, images, audio and video clips, and primary source documents.

Oxford Quick Reference is a database of academic subject, language, and quotations dictionaries published by Oxford University Press. It contains over 300 dictionaries that cover subjects like art, business, history, language, law, literature, medicine, performing arts, philosophy, psychology, religion, science, social sciences, and technology among others.

ELECTRONIC BOOKS

eBook Collection is a searchable database that contains thousands of multidisciplinary e-book titles representing a broad range of academic subject matter, like art, business, education, history, law, mathematics, political science, and science. For each title, the database provides access to the full-text of the publication.

ProQuest E-book Central is a searchable multidisciplinary database that provides access to over 187,000 e-books on a wide range of subjects. These include business, economics, education, engineering, history, language, law, life sciences, literature, medicine, physical sciences, psychology, religion, sociology, and technology.

ELECTRONIC JOURNALS

Academic Search Complete is a multidisciplinary database that includes journals and magazines about many subjects in the humanities, social sciences, and science and technology. Over 8,500 of these periodicals are available in full-text; and nearly 7,300 of the publications contain articles that are peer-reviewed by subject matter experts.

Journal Finder is an online guide to the full-text journals and magazines that are available through the library's databases. This research tool provides the option to browse or search for specific periodical titles to determine whether digital access is granted to them by Weis Library. If so, it displays links to the periodicals and notes the years of coverage available.

NEWS SOURCES

National Newspaper Core is a database that contains both national and local newspapers. The publications include the Baltimore Sun, Christian Science Monitor, New York Times, Wall Street Journal, and Washington Post. For each paper, the database provides access to the full-text of news content from the 1980s or 1990s to the present.

Regional Business News is a database that allows full-text access to regional business publications from the United States and Canada. It includes 40 publications that cover metropolitan and rural areas, and content from newspapers, radio and television programs, magazines and newswires, and trade magazines dating back to 1990.

BUSINESS INFORMATION

ABI/INFORM Global is a comprehensive database for both business and financial information. It contains more than 4,700 publications, including full-text journals, trade books, dissertations, conference proceedings, and market reports. The database includes topics such as business conditions, management techniques, business trends, management practice and theory, corporate strategy and tactics, and the competitive landscape.

Business Source Premier is a business research database that provides full text for over 2,300 journals and contains 1,100 peer-reviewed titles. It includes business areas like accounting, finance, economics, marketing, management, and production and operations management. This database extends back to 1886 and has searchable cited references back to 1998.

GOVERNMENT INFORMATION

Military & Government Collection is a database designed to offer current news pertaining to all branches of the military and government. It provides access to academic journals, popular magazines, and other publications relevant to those areas of study. The database includes the full text for nearly 300 magazines and journals and indexing and abstracts for more than 400 titles.

CQ Researcher is a searchable database with authoritative reports and perspectives on current political and social policy issues. For each of the issues examined, the reports contain an overview of the topic, historical information, current status and outlook, chronology, pro/con views, and resources for additional research. Moreover, the reports contain graphics, photos, and sidebar features. This source includes materials dating back to 1991.
